FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

XPERTECHS Introduces New Virtual CIO (vCIO) Service

Ellicott City, Maryland – July 1, 2013 – XPERTECHS today announced that they will be offering a new service they're calling 'Virtual CIO' (vCIO). vCIO services provide mid-size businesses with the expertise and value of a technology advisor without the cost of an in-house CIO.

Through vCIO services, XPERTECHS works with customers to create a technology plan that outlines where the company's technology should be in one year, two years, and three years. The service includes a review of internal systems and processes, as well as IT project management. By integrating experience gained from network projects with organizations across a wide range of industry verticals, XPERTECHS can execute a strategic plan to ensure the most sufficient technologies are being implemented. With a results-based mindset, the vCIO services include on-site as well as virtual support.

"XPERTECHS is very excited about the launch of this new service offering. We believe that it will truly give other businesses a unique advantage when it comes to their technology" said Michael Mellott, President at XPERTECHS. "Technology can become a burden for a business owner or CEO. By implementing a virtual CIO, that burden is taken away from the business owner and put in the hands of the vCIO."
