HARMONIOUS WORKFLOW

At ZENOPS, we specialize in integrating our clients' technology resources to make their employees' workflows more efficient. We evaluate how their companies use technology, and then we work to eliminate and automate repetitive tasks to streamline their workflows. Our aim is to bridge the gap between our clients' employees and the technology they use to perform their jobs.

FRAGMENTATION OF TECHNOLOGY RESOURCES

PROBLEM

Clients often come to us when their technology resources have fragmented. This means their employees' technology is not uniform, so their current IT support cannot respond to problems quickly and handle the business's growth. Our clients seek us out because they want us to manage the direction of their technology as their businesses grow.

SOLUTION

We perform a complete audit of clients' business technology, including their infrastructure, email provider, compliance requirements, applications, licensing, collaboration, backup strategies, vendors, and the clients' overall goals. The audit process allows us to create a comprehensive IT management plan. We work constantly with our clients' management and liaisons to ensure our technology solutions integrate well with their employees' workflows.

RESULT

When a client works with us, they can access company resources and work applications from any site, at any time. Our solutions also allow employees to reset their passwords with multi-factor authentication, which helps them keep their workflows independent of IT support. These solutions contribute to efficient company operations.
