Case Study: Blue Water Area Transit (BWAT)

As soon as Enertron started working with Blue Water Area Transit, we noticed that they needed to consolidate their physical servers. With some strategic reorganization, we reduced them from 6 to 2 servers. We also migrated their back-office mail operations to the cloud.

By reducing the number of servers they use, BWAT is reaping massive saving benefits in the form of reduced software, maintenance, energy, and administrative costs. By greatly reducing energy consumption, BWAT has also become much greener in the process.
