

President's Message

I hope that your New Year is off to a good start and that 2024 will be a successful year.

New Atlantic's leadership transition occurred on January 1st, 2024. Ricky Adkins is now Chairman, and I am President. With the transition, the Board of Directors has changed and now includes Jay Morgan, Executive Vice President; Devon Lilly, CPA, Chief Financial Officer; Chris Zananiri, Vice President of Operations; Glenn Wise, Vice President of Preconstruction; and Jesse Walters, Senior Project Manager in addition to Ricky and myself.

The new leadership will continue New Atlantic's mission to make every construction project an outstanding experience for our clients, designers, employees, subcontractors, and communities through open communication, innovative thinking, and trusting relationships. This mission was Ricky's focus during his tenure as President and will continue to be a priority for our entire company, including myself.

In addition to the new Board, New Atlantic is highlighting three unique projects in this issue. Two projects are for the military: the US Navy National Training Center for the Institute for Advanced Learning and

Research in Danville, VA, and the Regional Readiness Center and the Field Maintenance Shop for the NC National Guard in McLeansville, NC. These projects are very important to our country's defense, and it gives us tremendous pride to be the builder. The third project is the Regional Skilled Trades Solution Center completed in the Fall of 2023 for Western Piedmont Community College. This center is key for our industry in providing training to develop new talent for construction.

On behalf of all of us at New Atlantic, we wish you the best for 2024.

John Morrison
