

CFO 3.0

DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION BEYOND FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

The way work happens has evolved - we are mobile, social, flexible and adept at change. We trust data and expect technology to provide the solution to make us more efficient, productive and enable us to remain ahead of the curve.

This new dynamic has made its way to the role of the Chief Financial Officer (CFO).

The role has undergone more changes in the past 5 years than the previous 50.

EVOLUTION OF THE CFO

THE HISTORIAN

A strong individual with high financial acumen whose role reflects a traditional view of the finance professional as a historian of company financial data and past performance.

THE REAL-TIME ANALYST

While CFO 1.0 can tell their colleagues what happened, CFO 2.0 can add the "why" and help the organisation use real-time data to gain critical strategic insights.

THE VISIONARY

A new breed of trailblazing finance leaders. Instead of just using a rear-view mirror, data, new technology and predictive analytics allow them to look ahead, making them one of the most valuable members of the C-suite.

DIGITALIZATION

The role of the CFO is evolving, driven by a need for digitalization within the industry.

Digitalization has enabled finance professionals to access a range of technical advances and given them the ability to process large data sets using innovative automated and analytical methods.

98%

CFOs now play a lead role in transforming business for modern times.

PROSPERING FROM CHANGE

To maximize these efforts, finance leaders need to continue investing in training and educating their teams on the role digitalization will play.

Finance leaders are increasingly expected to drive digitalization. To get the most from technology there needs to be alignment between business strategy and cultural readiness.

believe they have an overall digital skills gap in their department or team

82%

of respondents believe the culture of their organization is not yet ready for more automated technology

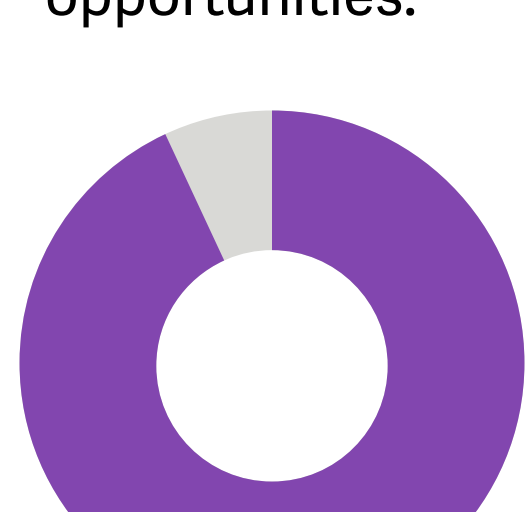

83%

of finance leaders are concerned that their organization lacks the skills to effectively operate AI-powered technologies

LOOKING AHEAD

Finance leaders are embracing the future and readily see the value in investing in emerging technologies as a solution to transform their businesses, achieve higher accuracy and prevent business risks.

Emerging technologies allow organizations to take the risk away from finance professionals by helping businesses to discover new or hidden business opportunities.

93%
of C-Suite agree AI can help automate mundane tasks

94%
of financial decision-makers believe the role of business accounting and financial management technology can help businesses to discover new opportunities and/or risks
